REPORT

Client counselling for law students involves teaching future lawyers the skills and techniques necessary to effectively communicate with and advise clients. This type of training focuses on developing active listening skills, asking probing questions, showing empathy, and demonstrating professionalism. Law students learn how to build rapport with clients, establish trust, and manage client expectations. The goal of ST ROCKS DEGREE COLLEGE OF LAW is to empower students to provide practical legal advice and guidance while maintaining ethical standards and confidentiality. Ultimately, client counselling for law students aims to prepare them for real-world interactions with clients in legal practice.

With the passing of time, the legal profession evolved and the concept of client-centred counselling became an acceptable practice. The concept of client counselling or client-centred counselling involves the lawyer to assist his client in taking the decisions and not take decisions on behalf of them. Unlike other counselling, in legal counselling, the client might be looking for possible remedies for his situation.

As lawyers, our duty is to ensure that our client gets the best and nothing else and an important part of it is counselling your client properly and enabling them to make the right decisions. Client counselling is not even completely a skill, it is something that can be learned and mastered via practice.
